Direct and Indirect Object Pronouns

Direct Object Pronouns

A Direct Object follows the verb directly without any preposition. The Direct Object Pronouns replace the direct objects in a sentence to avoid repetition. They usually precede the verb.

| Français | English |
|---|---|
| me / m' (before a vowel or a mute h) | me (people) |
| te / t' (before a vowel or a mute h) | you (people) |
| le / l' (before a vowel or a mute h) | him / it (masculine object/thing) |
| la / l' (before a vowel or a mute h) | her / it (feminine object/thing) |
| nous | us (people) |
| vous | you / you all (formal and plural) |
| les | them (for both people and things) |

| Français | English |
|---|---|
| Je mange le gâteau.Je le mange. | I am eating the cake.I am eating it. |
| Elle prépare la soupe aux lentilles.Elle la prépare. | She is making lentil soup.She is making it. |
| Je remercie Mme Dupont de son aide.Je la remercie de son aide. | I thank Mrs. Dupont for her help.I thank her for her help. |
| Soha raconte une histoire.Soha la raconte. | Soha is telling a story.Soha is telling it. |
| Narendra Modi me connaît. | Narendra Modi knows me. |
| Elle te rencontre devant la tour Eiffel. | She is meeting you in front of the Eiffel Tower. |
| Je t'aime beaucoup. | I love you a lot. |
| Ma mère vous invite à la soirée. | My mother is inviting you to the party. |

| Français | English |
| --- | --- |
| Kaustubh: Soha vous déteste, toi et ta copine.Shubham: Non, pas du tout. Elle nous aime bien. | Kaustubh: Soha hates you and your girlfriend.Shubham: No, not at all. She likes us. |
| Kaustubh: Soha nous déteste, moi et ma copine.Shubham: Non, pas du tout. Elle vous aime bien. | Kaustubh: Soha hates me and my girlfriend.Shubham: No, not at all. She likes you (plural). |

Note: The pronouns generally precede the verb. In compound sentences, however, they precede the verb they directly refer to.

| Français | English |
| --- | --- |
| Kaustubh aime chanter les chansons de Himesh Reshammiya.Il aime les chanter. | Kaustubh likes to sing Himesh Reshammiya's songs.He likes to sing them. |
| Je viens de couper la pastèque.Je viens de la couper. | I just cut the watermelon.I just cut it. |

Neuter Object Pronoun

In some cases, the object refers to a whole idea, a phrase, or more than two words. In that case, we cannot determine its gender. Therefore, to address it, we use the Neuter Object Pronoun le.

| Français | English |
| --- | --- |
| Akshata déteste faire la vaisselle.Akshata le déteste. | Akshata hates doing dishes.Akshata hates it. |
| Apprendre le français n'est pas facile. Tu comprends ?Oui ! Je le comprends. | Learning French is not easy. Do you get it ?Yes, I get it. |

Indirect Object Pronouns

The object is considered indirect when the verb is followed by a preposition. Indirect Object Pronouns are used to replace indirect objects (humans/animals) to avoid repetition. They usually precede the verb.

| Français | English |
|---|---|
| me / m’ (before a vowel and mute h) | me |
| te / t’ (before a vowel and mute h) | you |
| lui | him, her |
| nous | we |
| vous | you (formal and plural) |
| leur | them (masculine and feminine) |

| Français | English |
|---|---|
| Michael parle à Babu.Michael lui parle. | Michael is talking to Babu.Michael is talking to him. |
| J’écris à ma copine.Je lui écris. | I am writing to my girlfriend.I am writing to her. |
| Elle donne le livre à Anushka.Elle lui donne le livre. | She gives the book to Anushka.She gives her the book. |
| La femme dit à ses amies de quitter la maison.La femme leur dit de quitter la maison. | The woman tells her friends to leave the house.The woman tells them to leave the house. |
| Kaustubh ne parle pas à Soha et à moi.Il ne nous parle pas. | Kaustubh doesn’t speak to Soha and me.He doesn’t speak to us. |
| Il t’achète des bijoux en diamants. | He buys you diamond jewellery. |
| Elle vous envoie un cadeau. | She is sending you a gift. |

Note: Mostly, they are used to replace the Indirect Objects which follow the preposition à. They are used rather sparingly with other prepositions such as avec, pour, de, etc. ]