Relative Pronouns

are used to join two parts of a complex sentence

main clause

subordinate / dependent clause

antecedent

JM is going to marry a woman whom / that he loves.

mc

relative pronoun

dc

Que, Qui ..... à quoi, dont

Que

direct object for dependent clause

whom / that → people

which / that → other objects

mc — antecedent — dc

Elle n'aime pas la maison que vous lui montrez.

→ she doesn't like the house (that / which) you are showing her.

montrer qqch à qqun

to show something to someone

mc — que — subject + ver

will act as a direct object

dc

Who is that boy (whom) she is kissing ?

that

→ Qui est ce garçon qu'elle embrasse ?

antc

que

when

embrasser qqun

to kiss someone

que is followed by vowel

or mute 'h'

qu'